

How wide is the doorway?

My weather data must show the hottest day of the month.

I need to underline the title of my essay.

They don't count coins in the bank, they weigh them.

In five minutes it will be lunch time.

I am getting tools together to do my geometry homework.

I wonder if this bag is light enough for hand luggage.

"The film starts at 8, so don't be late!"

We are making a graph to show "How wide is a smile."

To make toffee, the sugar has to be at boiling point.

I am measuring a reflex angle.

To make a skirt in home economics I must measure my waist.

I have to decide whether this is an acute or obtuse angle.

When does the next bus arrive?

The water in the fish tank must not be too cold.

I want a new quilt and need to know the length of my bed.

How long does it take to drive there?

How long do you spend doing your homework?

I am constructing a right-angle triangle.

I will find out if there are 450 gms in this packet.

I must be out of the house by 7 am.

I need to know my hat size.

I wonder if water freezes at 0° centigrade.

I am checking if the milk is 23° or more.

I want to find the circumference of this tree.

The train pulled out at noon. I wonder how long it was in the station?

I'm drawing a rectangle in my maths book.

In the store they measure the fabric before they cut it.

How much shorter do you want these jeans?

I keep a record of how my weight changes over the year.

You must use exactly the right amount of chemicals in the lab.

I am going to compare the size of two pumpkins.

I will use one part juice to two parts water.

I need equal amounts of water and rice.

How much shorter was your journey than mine?

My dad keeps a record of how tall I grew on a height chart.

I am going to make my own clinometer to measure the height of tall objects.

I am going to buy a shirt for his birthday. What size collar does he wear?

From a scale drawing of my bedroom I need to know the size of the furniture.

I am getting sugar, flour, fat and milk together to make a cake.

How much longer will you be playing this game???

